Champagne & Sparkling Wines

Champagne, the quintessential aperitif, is an extraordinary palate cleanser. Vintage champagne, only produced in exceptional years, is wonderful with rich seafood, poultry and veal. Champagne is most often a blend of three different grape types, Chardonnay, Pinot Noir and Pinot Meunier, the blend bringing greater fullness, depth and finesse than any one grape on its own.

Alsace & Germany

Although Alsace is a French wine growing region, its climate and history dictate that its wines be compared to those of Germany.

White Wines

Vintage		Bin #	Half Bottle	Bottle
Though made from classically German grapes like Riesling and Gewurztraminer, they are fermented dry in the French style. The choice in Germany is to leave residual sugar and enjoy the sweet fruit of their labors. Enjoy the wines of Germany with fresh fruit, light desserts or as a refreshing aperitif. In Alsace, the noble Riesling and the Gewurztraminer have the flavor and the acidity to stand up to creamed or heavily seasoned sauces. Pinot Blanc offers a refreshing, lighter touch.

Australia

Wines were first imported from Australia in 1788, but only recently has it's table wines surged in popularity in the United States. There is now over 700 wineries in the nation and over 100,000 acres of vineyard. The Chardonnay grape has dominated the australian whites, usually blended with the semillon grape to give the wines a greater complexity.

Domestic Chardonnay

The Chardonnay grape produces what are generally regarded as the world's finest white wines. Developed in the Burgundy region of France, and well adapted to the California climate, it yields white wines of body, texture and flavor comparable to some reds.

The qualities of a good Chardonnay are golden tones of color, a well balanced mix of tart and buttery sensations, a gentle tannic reminder of oak aging, a long, rewarding finish, and the versatility that allows it to complement a wide range of foods.

Domestic Sauvignon Blanc - Fume Blanc

Newly fashionable, but potentially excellent in California. At its best, California Sauvignon Blancs are closer to white Graves (Bordeaux) in style than Pouilly Fume in the Loire, although the alternate name for the grape, Fume Blanc suggests the Loire. These wines can be light and herbaceous or oak-aged and solid and of Chardonnay quality. Serve with fish and shellfish or foods with Mediterranean seasonings; garlic, olive oil and oregano.

French Bordeaux

Sauvignon Blanc is the primary white wine grape of Bordeaux and Graves. Light, refreshing, pale in color, often with a grassy bouquet, these wines have become more and more popular with the recent trend toward lighter cuisine. Many Sauvignon Blancs have a lingering finish of lemon that caps the flavor of fresh broiled fish or shellfish perfectly. It is also enjoyable as a light counterpoint to some creamed sauces, as well as simple grilled chicken or a light veal dish. Sauvignon Blanc is usually blended with Semillon, a versatile grape more often used to make the sweet dessert wines of Sauternes.

French Burgundy

French wines grown in the Burgundy region of France are made from the Chardonnay grape. For the most part, the wines bear the name of the villages or "communes" where the grapes are grown as well as the name of the grower. While ideal for full-flavored fish and a variety of chicken, veal and game dishes, the best white burgundies have the body and texture to hold their own with meat dishes when the diner simply prefers white wine. Chablis has the crispness and raciness to provide a delightful foil for shellfish, while the more delicate whites from the Maconnais provide perfect accompaniment for even the lightest dishes on our menu.

French Loire

Near the coast of Normandy, the Loire River Valley produces delicate white wines that speak of freshness, lemons and anything light. Almost purely seafood wines, they are an ideal product for their region. Two of the wines, from Sancerre and Pouilly-Fume, are 100% Sauvignon Blanc and perfectly illustrate the crisp finish that accompanies fish so well. Muscadet is both the name of the coastal area and the grape that is grown there. Light, dry, refreshing wine, it again is best suited to fresh fish, simply prepared. The wines of Vouvray feature Chenin Blanc, offering well-balanced sensations of tart and sweet. It is a good wine for times when one guest prefers a dry while the other enjoys sweet. Chenin Blanc is also said to bring out the sweetness of shellfish like crab and lobster.

2006	Champalou "Cuvee des Fondraux", Vouvray	126		$38.00

French Vins De Pays (Midi)

A 1979 French legal decision liberalized the rules for this category, permitting the use of non-traditional grapes in certain regions, and even allowing vintners to label wines with the varietal name rather than with the regional name.

New Zealand & South Africa

There is no modern precedent for the pace of the wine revolution in this southerly wine growing area. Major wine growing areas include Gisborne on the north island, where Chardonnays provide concentrated flavors and aromas, and Marlborough on the south island, which produces the pungent, intense Sauvignon Blancs. Paired with fish and shellfish, these wines are hard to beat for explosive heady flavors.

Other Whites

Chardonnay is an extraordinary wine, complex, rich, delicious and often first thought of to accompany a meal. We have many wonderful offerings of both domestic Chardonnay and its French counterpart, white Burgundy, with many stylistic nuances, but if you're in the mood for something a little bit different, something to experiment with a little, we would suggest one of the following diversions...

Domestic Cabernet Sauvignon and Blends

California Cabernet remains the premier red wine grape in California; fruity, fragrant, tannic and full-bodied. Capable of great longevity, elegance and finesse, the wines are often blended with Merlot and Cabernet Franc to achieve flavors nuances. Lamb is perhaps the ideal meat to serve with California Cabernets. Its texture and slightly pungent quality marry well with the rich flavors and balance of the wine. Try the younger Cabernets with full flavored beef or veal dishes.

French Beaujolais

Gamay is the grape of the Beaujolais region of Southern Burgundy. Generally light in body, very fruity, and best when enjoyed young and at a cool temperature. We offer Beaujolais-Villages, wines made from the grapes of many villages, as well as to select from highly rated "Crus" Brouilly and Moulin-a-Vent whose distinctive soil and climate have earned them their own status as appellations.

French Bordeaux & Southwest France

A blend of grapes, primarily Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot is responsible for the great Bordeaux reds, arguably the finest wines in the world. Cabernet Sauvignon is brash and tannic when young, but develops with age into a complex, full-bodied wine with layer upon layer of flavor. Merlot is a softer touch, mellowing the Cabernet when young, adding to its depth, color and body as it ages. Merlot is the principal grape in the heavy clay soils of St. Emilion and Pomerol, where it makes big, soft textured wines that are drinkable earlier than the mostly Cabernet based wines of the Medoc: Pauillac, St. Julien, Margaux, Ste. Estephe and Graves. Superb beef and lamb wines, they are also excellent with strong cheese and even do well when lingering into dessert when chocolate is featured.

French Burgundy

Pinot Noir is the red grape of Burgundy, producing aromatic wines lower in tannin, slightly sweeter and richer in texture than most Cabernets. The finest red burgundies are intensely perfumed, soft yet full of fruit, and a rare treat. Rare because the grape is temperamental, definitely preferring its home in Burgundy to any other growing area in the world. With food, Pinot Noir is quite versatile, though particularly good with duck, pheasant and other game, as well as veal, beef, pork or lamb. It can even be enjoyed with a full-bodied fish like tuna and bluefish.

Italy

From Italy's North, come the light, fruity reds of Valpolicella which, like Beaujolais, can be served slightly chilled. In the Tuscan hills surrounding Florence are the most famous vineyards of Italy, those of Chianti. Made primarily from the Sangiovese grape, Chianti is considered ideal with game birds and poultry or full-flavored pasta dishes. The Piedmont, in Italy's northwest corner is home to the Dolcetto grape, a medium weight, soft, fruity red. Furthest south, of course, is the island of Sicily, where sun-drenched days produce warm, clean, satisfying wines.

Merlot

In California, Merlot came into its own as a premium grape varietal in the late 1970's. Originally bottled only as a part of a Cabernet based blend, it is becoming very popular by itself, particularly with new red wine drinkers who enjoy a softer red. In part because most are produced by wineries experienced with making Cabernet Sauvignon, the California Merlots often resemble Cabernets, though softer and earlier maturing. Merlots are wonderful with spicy foods like duck, lamb and pork and their fruitiness enables them to stand up to salty meats like ham.

Pinot Noir

Oregon and cooler regions of California are finally having success with this finicky but worthwhile grape, and its future looks promising in our country. Pinot Noir has a wonderful affinity for food, pairing well with duck and lamb, and even salmon as well. Grilled meats and poultry also are good choices.

Red Zinfandel

The most widely planted red grape in California has a zesty, spicy varietal character, and is loaded with notes of raspberry, plum and red-berry fruit. Winemakers often choose to emphasize one or more of these characteristics. Red Zinfandel are best with full-flavored dishes such as game, lamb, beef and veal.

Spain

For most people, Spanish wine means Rioja, where red wine is more important than white. It is made from a mixture of grapes, in which the best, Tempranillo, is backed up with Garnacha for strength and Carinena for color and acidity. Fragrant and fine with a toasted sweet warmth, these wines pair beautifully with spicier meats like duck and lamb.
